MRS. HAMMOND VISITS BEST L. S. WARSHIP.

Mrs. A. S. Hammond of 161 Madison avenue has returned home from a short visit to her son, Lt. Raymond Hammond and family, in Brooklyn. Her son is connected with the hospital staff of the U. S. West Virginia and has an exceptional opportunity of inspecting that new and most powerful American fighting ship, the construction of which was begun in 1917. The ship was on the third deck down and was clear across the middle part of the ship. There are 110,000 men of medicine constantly aboard. She visited many parts of the ship to which the public does not have access, fireroom, bridge, etc., and when she visited the kitchen she saw one reason why the men on this ship are said to be the most contented of any in the navy. Delicious smells were present there, with one cook making peach fritters and cinnamon toast and ten electric ovens containing other good things to eat, while ham and cabbage were being cooked for the sailors' dinner. Electricity is used for power, heat and light in all departments of the vessel. An unusual feature is the doors, which are all oblong in shape, of thick iron, so they can be closed airtight.

Black and White
for Women's Wear*Blue Also Paris Favorite;
Disappearing Waistline Becoming Style.

The disappearing waistline characterizes the collections of mid-season dresses that Paris dressmakers have prepared for their private trade. These have no waistline—no girdle, no belt and no ornamentation of any kind to mark the dividing line. At first sight, writes a fashion correspondent in the New York Tribune, these extremely straight dresses appeared to be trying, but tested on many types of figures they have been found generally becoming.

This form is particularly well adapted to the street dress or coat with heavy bands of fur on the edge of the skirt to weight it. It also adapts itself to the apron style of dress, where one robe seemingly slips on over another. Handsomely embroidered and appliqued evening dresses frequently have no waistline. In fact, many of the newest models now recall the famous tube dress of pre-war days launched by Paul Poiret and the dominating factor in the fashions of 1911-12.

The Parisienne evinces great interest in black and white at the present time. Many of the loveliest winter dresses have a touch of ermine as a relief from their sombre black. It is also quite the fashion to use the lingerie finish at the neck and sleeves, which may be of fine lace, a fold of white georgette crepe or of white organdie. Many black dresses that are bordered with fur, notably with caracul or broadtail, have an inside finish of white lingerie; that is to say, real lace, hand embroidery, hand-drawn organdie or handkerchief linen.

Touches of White on Black.

Floating panels of white are often half concealed under dresses which have overlapping fronts. Tiny pipings of white and inside facings are also much noted on black dresses.

White buds fair to be a big winter vogue at the Southern resorts. Many of the new tailored suits are in white velours de laine and white broadcloth trimmed with brown or black fur. Yonnet has a charming coat, prepared for Mme. Caillo, in which the entire upper part is of sealskin and the skirt and lower half of the bell sleeves are of white broadcloth.

Madeline et Madeleine show a lovely new white suit in their most recent collection. This suit is trimmed with lapin ombre, a beautiful new finish in rabbit fur which gives it an appearance of dark sable. Across the front of the jacket is a deep border of this dark brown fur. It forms a suit of triangle shape just where the front laps. This house has another white cloth and fur combination in the form of a full length coat of broadcloth. The fur is introduced in the form of a band of lapin ombre on the long scarf of white broadcloth, which passes around the neck and falls the full length of the coat back and front.

White satin evening dresses are being shown with borders and bands of black fur. White crepe de chine and white crepe marocain dresses often show touches of black in the form of inside panels or linings to scarf-like cravats which twist about the neck.

One of Cheruit's Pantaloette Dresses Developed From Green and Silver Brocade. The Pantaloettes Are of Bright Cerise Taffeta.

White velvet evening dresses are embroidered in jet and brilliants, in imitation of onyx and diamonds.

The pure white shoe is rarely even seen, but black and white combinations are much liked. White silver slippers show onyx buckles, giving the effect of black and white in evening shoes.

But black and white by no means monopolize the stage. Blue is again to be taken up strongly in Paris. After almost a surfeit of beige and brown, blue comes as an interesting relief. Callot and Chanel are responsible for the introduction of this color. Both of these important makers have used considerable blue in their recent collections. Women formerly fond of blue and who have been deprived of the pleasure of matching their eyes through fashion's decree in favor of black or brown have joyfully gone back to cerulean blue.

Blue Satin or Crepe de Chine. Chanel is making afternoon dresses in a lovely shade of medium blue satin or crepe de chine, and at the same time is lining fur coats to match in the same celestial shade. Callot has a great many evening dresses in blue. Jean Patou also uses blue and Drecoll reports great success in this color.

Paris manufacturers of dress accessories, such as Judith Durbler and Natalie Bourneul, are selling blue fans and corsage ornaments and blue head dresses. Shoemakers are taking many orders for evening slippers in deep blue. Many blue kid slippers and low cut shoes are being worn on the street. The navy blue serge suit is coming back into its own.

Another color favorite is old-fashioned flesh pink. Callot, Vionnet, Boulanger, Paquin and Drecoll are showing lovely new evening dresses in flesh pink velvet and satin. Many of these are embroidered in brilliants in widely scattered all-over patterns.

Callot also embroiders flesh pink in gold. There are many lovely new dresses developed in flesh pink chiffon and sheer lace dyed to match. One has always associated the idea of pale pink with young girls, but matrons have taken it up now and it is the next favorite to pure white.

Metal cloths are again very popular and many of the most elaborate evening dresses are being developed in metal, usually in the hammered patterns in preference to the ordinary brocade. The plain or fulgurante, or brilliant surface metal cloths are also in high favor. The hammered metal cloths are often in patterns taken from the Renaissance, appearing almost like the work of goldsmiths, uniting as they do the effect of repousse and hammered metals. Gold and silver embroideries on laces and nets are again noted as well as the all-metal laces.

Cloche Hat Holds Popularity.

The cloche hat is perennial in Paris. Nothing yet has been found to displace it in popularity. Everybody prophesied that it could not last and yet it seems more in favor than ever. Women with shingled hair, of which there are a multitude in Paris, find that the cloche hat is the only form that can be becomingly worn. The straight brim hat or the upturned brim is hideous with the shingled head. One wonders if women will ever go back to long hair again.

It seems as if every woman were shingled nowadays, the grandmother, mother and daughter, ranging from five years to seventy-five. More conservative women, who dare not because of their husband's or some other male's prejudice to crop the hair, are buying shingled wigs. It is a perfect madness in Paris. The cloche hat must survive as long as the shingled head remains the fashion.

Practically every actress in Paris has her hair cut. Almost every role is played with the shingled head. The leading role in "Carmen," in "Louise" and in all the modern drama is interpreted by lobbed-hair actresses. In fact, the whole idea of feminine beauty seems to have changed. A woman glories now in the shingled head rather than in long hair.

Lanvin is showing, in addition to her many cloches, hats that are frankly Oriental turbans. Other turbans with curious brims which turn up look almost like Egyptian and Hindu-Chinese ornaments which adorn the sacred temples. Evidently Lanvin has taken her millinery inspiration from this source.

Can Dress Little Miss*According to Her Type

It is comparatively recent that much attention has been paid to the different types of childhood. Inspiral colors were the only permissible shades not so many years ago and the materials considered suitable for youthful modes could be counted on the fingers of one hand.

Today a different state of affairs exists and a visit to any one of the shops devoted entirely to fashions for the very small person will prove that no matter what her type, it is possible to dress any child in a manner as attractive as it is practical.

The Celtic Cross.

The Celtic crosses are such as were found on the Blessed Isle, one of the Hebrides group known as Iona. Some authorities believe that the circular symbol, which appears at the connection of the upright beam and the cross beam, is a sign of the sun.

Don't Spoil Your Child's Hair By Washing It

When you wash children's hair be careful what you use. Many soaps are prepared which contain much free alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle. The best thing to use is Mulsified coconut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It is inexpensive and beats anything else all in pieces. Two or three teaspoonfuls is all that is required. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and looks soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, and easy to manage. Residues, dandruff, dirt and dandruff. You get Mulsified coconut oil shampoo at any drug store, and a few shampoos will last for months.

Hamlin Garland First Lecturer

Author Will on January 15 Inaugurate Series of Lectures and Entertainments to be Given by Federation of Women's Clubs.

The course of lectures and entertainments to be given by the Federation of Women's Clubs for the benefit of the Kingston City Library and its own community work, will begin next Tuesday, January 15. The federation has had a twofold idea in giving this course of lectures; to bring before the people of Kingston two good lecturers and a good entertainment and to raise funds for needed improvements at the Kingston City Library and to carry on certain phases of community work which the federation has in mind. Course tickets are two dollars and may be secured of members of the federation and at Winter's music store on Wall street, Forsyth & Davis on Wall street, Burgevin's flower show and Eltinge's drug store. As it will be necessary to have a certain amount of funds on hand the night of the first lecture with which to pay that lecturer, all members of the federation having tickets to sell are asked to make a return of tickets sold with the money to the person from whom they secured their tickets, not later than Saturday of this week.

Hamlin Garland will be the first lecturer. He is an exponent of the middle west, its history and romance, equally famous as American author and lecturer and will lecture here on "Conditions of American Authorship." Many Kingstonsians have heard Mr. Garland speak, and all agree that he is a charming speaker quite aside from the subject matter on which he speaks. Hamlin Garland's books are well known, especially his "A Daughter of the Middle Border," and its sequel, "A Son of the Middle Border," "Captain of the Gray Horse Troop," "The Eagle Heart," "The Long Trail," etc. The second number of the course will be a musical evening given by the well known and greatly admired Annie Louise David, harpist, with Edward Bromberg, baritone soloist, on the evening of February 12, and the third and last number will be another lecture by Whittier Williams on his personal experiences as a laborer and in the Ruhr country, on March 26.

POWER EQUIPMENT SHOW OPENS IN N. Y.

The first international exposition of equipment for every construction and agricultural use opened January 5, when the Ford Power Equipment Exposition inaugurated its first special display, which will continue until February 2, in conjunction with the display of the Ford Motor Company, in the Ford Motor Company building, Broadway at 34th street, New York city.

The exposition, which contains more than 100 exhibits from 80 manufacturers in the United States and Canada, displays only equipment made by recognized manufacturers, who have designed equipment now used with the Ford truck and the Fordson tractor, which make these two power plants equivalent to heavy duty trucks and incorporate them in other machinery in a manner which increases the efficiency of the equipment.

Sudanese Eat Lizards and Ants.
Natives of the Sudan, who now number about 5,000,000, subsist chiefly on a diet of roots, berries, insects, and such animals as lizards, white ants and dried caterpillars. In some spots in their land the finest cotton in the world is raised. An English party recently made a 2,500-mile trip across the Sudan to Belgian Congo, and among other things discovered that the population has doubled in the last twenty years, while the big game of the country is rapidly disappearing from the jungle with the advance of even primitive settlements.

Kathleen Marvourneen Loan.
A debtor, on being sued, acknowledged that he had borrowed the money, but declared that the plaintiff knew at the time that it was a Kathleen Marvourneen loan. "A Kathleen Marvourneen loan?" questioned the magistrate, with a puzzled look. "That's it, your honor—one of 'em may be for years, and it may be for ever' sort."

Scots Fought Potatoes.
When the potato was first introduced into Scotland it met with much opposition. Sermons were preached against it, in which it was declared that, as the potato was not mentioned in the Bible, it must be unfit for Christians to eat. It was even described by one divine as being the forbidden fruit which had caused the fall of Adam.

Bamboo Organ.
A bamboo organ in the Catholic church of Los Pinos, near Manila, Philippine Islands, was built about 1815 by a Spanish priest, who used more than 900 lengths of bamboo in the construction. Every part is of bamboo and the organ is still used every week by the Belgian priest in charge.

Neat's-Foot Oil.
Neat's-foot oil is obtained from the feet of such animals as oxen and sheep. It is commercially valuable as an industrial oil, because it remains liquid at a freezing temperature, and it can therefore be used in lubricating exposed machinery. Neat's-foot oil is pale yellow and is practically odorless.

Slot Machines in Ancient Egypt.
Ancient Egypt boasted a "penny-in-the-slot" machine, while one explorer found in the ruins of Nineveh a kind of magnifying glass, and nearly four thousand years ago the Egyptians and Assyrians observed the stars through a primitive telescope.

BOY SCOUTS

(Conducted by National Council of the Boy Scouts of America.)

CHURCHMAN JOINS SCOUTING

Rectors no less than laymen are finding in the scout oath and law and in the organization's platform interesting effort and the satisfaction of achievement. Together with statesmen, scholars and business men, men of the church "join on" and perform the self-disciplined duties of scoutdom.

At an impressive ceremony at Elizabeth, N. J., Rev. William Reid Cross of Trinity church recently received the rank of tenderfoot scout and became a member of Troop No. 8, which is sponsored by this church. At the sound of a bugle call the candidate and members of Troop 8 entered. A prayer followed. Then spoke the senior patrol leader, saying: "Like the knights of old who knelt in the unseen presence of the master scout, and vowed fidelity to the ideals for which knighthood stood, this candidate is ready to vow fidelity to scouting and the ideals for which it stands." The patrol leader then removed the neckerchief covering the eyes of the candidate, saying: "The troop neckerchief is a figurative blindfold, keeping from your eyes and thoughts anything unworthy of a true scout. It bears the number 'eight,' the designation of this troop. Character, the duties of citizenship and service are intertwined as are the loops of this 'eight.' The knot is a symbol of the service which every scout renders unasked and with no hope of reward except the privilege of service."

An assistant patrol leader then removed the cord which bound the hands of the candidate, saying: "As I unfasten the knot that ties your hands, so does scouting loose the knots that have held in bonds your eyes, ears, spirit and mind. You are now free to enjoy the great outdoors. The woods are yours, the streams, the birds. You are free to enjoy the open, to practice woodcraft that the pioneer scout knew of old, free to hear the songs of the birds and learn their habits; free to read the signs of the trail; free from the bonds of so-called civilization; free to follow the life of the open road and the firelit camp. Such is the life of the scout."

The candidate rector then made the promises of the scout oath and law, and received an explanation of the scout grip, motto and slogan.

A "GLORIFIED" GOOD TURN

The vision of every boy scout—to aid in saving human lives—was fulfilled for Logan, Utah, last on the recent fateful occasion when flood swept down the Rocky Mountain Canyon engulfing the little town of Willard. The once quiet spot, suddenly became a scene of wild confusion and wrecked hopes, sent forth an anguished call for help, and to the glory of "Scout preparedness," within two hours after the call had been sent, 35 boy scouts from Logan, equipped with food and bedding, were on their way to Willard, the first group to answer its cry of distress.

The scouts found turmoil and despair in the trail of a cloudburst's torrent. Property had been destroyed; people made homeless; lives lost. The scouts worked for three days on the scene of the disaster, helping keep the place in sanitary condition, so that disease might be prevented. They drained stagnant pools, cleared away debris of various sorts, located dead animals and had them removed, dug sediment from the rooms of houses which had been left standing, and performed many other duties.

"The Scouts of the Cache Valley (Utah) Council of the Boy Scouts of America," said an observer of the work, "have to their credit the doing of many 'good turns,' but this is one of their very greatest."

G. A. R. HONORS BOY SCOUTS

A touching tribute from the ranks of the old and passing citizens to scouting work for the new—making "manhood of character" trained for citizenship—was paid by the Apperson post, G. A. R., to the boy scouts of Bellingham, Wash., when the veteran soldiers, in disbanding the post because of thinning numbers, recently presented to the scout organization the flag and staff that had been carried by the post for the past thirty-five years.

ADMIRE BOY SCOUT SPIRIT

The sight of a boy scout of Augusta, Ga., quietly guiding a blind negro across a crowded street at a point where autos and street cars rush past, was the inspiration of a letter of appreciation of the scout spirit, by one signing himself "A Friend of the Boy Scouts." "This is perhaps only one of hundreds of acts of helpfulness that are shown constantly by this youthful organization," says the writer. "There does not appear to be discrimination where duty calls for service."

From a Prison to $10,000 a Year

Eytzinge, Who Had the Experience, Will Tell Rotarians How He Saved His Life and Made It Useful.

Louis Victor Eytzinge, who 16 years ago was sentenced for life to the Arizona state prison on conviction of murder and is now the $10,000 a year marketing counselor of a large mail order house, will be the speaker at the Rotary Club luncheon at the Y. M. C. A. on Wednesday. Eytzinge had served a five years term in Ohio for swindling before he went to Arizona, where he was convicted on weak circumstantial evidence and given a life sentence for murder. He was supposed to be in the last stages of tuberculosis with only two months to live. While in the Arizona prison Eytzinge's health improved and he worked out a plan for selling by mail the trinkets made by the prisoners in their spare time, which worked out so successfully that he attracted the attention of big business men who sought his release and his services. Eytzinge will talk of his prison experience and of the success that attended his struggles to make something useful of his life.

MOST HOUSES KEPT TOO DRY

Chill Comes From the Absence of Moisture in the Air, It is Declared.

What makes bad air bad? Most authorities agree that the factors that distinguish good from bad air are proper temperature, proper humidity and adequate movement. The maximum temperature of rooms for health is about 72 F. Most Americans like the temperature much higher and complain of feeling chilly when it is at this level. Why?

The principal reason is that the air is too dry. Dry air means that excessive evaporation of moisture takes place from the skin, mouth and nose, and this evaporation takes heat away from the body. The worst combinations between temperature and humidity are cold damp air, warm moist air and excessively dry air artificially warmed. The comfort zone lies between 68 and 70 F. with a humidity between 30 and 55 per cent.

The average indoor room in winter, according to Ellen A. Reynolds in Hygiene, has a humidity between 15 and 22 per cent and to offset the great loss of body heat which this causes the temperature is kept far too high. Evidence is accumulating in cases of respiratory diseases to show that a small decrease in the relative humidity affects the death rate appreciably.

LEARN HOW THE MOLE LIVES

Naturalists Obtain Several Nests of the Animal That Reveals His Habits.

The American Museum of Natural History offered a prize of $25 for a nest which would show how the mole lives, and several were forthcoming. Dr. F. A. Lucas, director of the museum, said accurate information hitherto not available to scientists, had been obtained. "This is the first authentic information about a mole's nesting habits I know of," he said, "and as far as I know the groups which we can make out of our specimens will be the first in any American museum. I had been unable to find any one who knew anything about the family life of a mole until I received the accurate information of the finders of the nests we now have." Doctor Lucas plans to use the newspapers in further hunts for unusual specimens of animal life. He said that for three years he had been trying to get hold of a family of young raccoons under a month old. In spite of a reward of $100 for such a family he has never been able to get one. He is also after a family of young wolves.

Wanted to Shine.

French menus and the high prices in New York restaurants stir the visitors' hatred. The specious covert charge is likewise detested. When the bill of fare is printed in French, as is the custom in the more exclusive cafes, out-of-town visitors write me they consider it un-American.

However, in this connection I received a rather amusing request from a young man in Idaho. He was coming to New York to see a young lady who was in a finishing school. He enclosed $5 in his letter and asked if I would procure one of the menus in French at a certain hotel, select dishes in order that would make a satisfying meal, mark them, and also explain what they were.

"My young lady friend has been running around with a New Yorker," he explained, "and I want to show her that I can order a meal in French, too."—O. O. McIntyre in the American Magazine.

Just Like Himself.

The Scotch are notoriously inclined to place at least a fair valuation on themselves and as exemplifying this quality an instructor in an eastern golf club tells this story:

"Angus McCree, a prosperous bachelor, was called from his business in Glasgow to London to confer with a large exporting house. Upon his return his old mother was very anxious to learn about his trip and she was especially desirous of knowing exactly what an Englishman is like.

"Now Angus," said she, "tell me what an Englishman at home is like?" "I don't see any," replied Angus. "I only dealt with heads of departments and ye ken they're a Scotch."

Asked Too Much.

Jones was a lawyer who was not particularly bothered about the ethics of the profession. Most of the cases he brought into court were a bit shady. In fact his enemies did not hesitate to brand him "shyster" and the courts in which Jones practiced were thoroughly disgusted with his practices. In one case in which he was defending a man with a notorious criminal record he made an impassioned plea before the judge, concluding:

"And all I want for my client, your honor, is justice. Plain, simple justice!"

"In that case I am very sorry," the judge told him, "but the law limits me to a 15-year sentence!"

His Wife's Job.

A shiftless specimen of humanity came downtown one morning and joining a group on a corner, announced that he was going to leave town—said he could not live in it any longer. Some one asked him what was the matter.

"Well," he said, "the town is all right; but it's the hardest place in the world for a woman to get work in."—Everybody's Magazine.

AMBER IN THE SCHEME OF FASHIONS.

Amber has two interesting phases in its past history. It was the very first article of trade between the remote Baltic shores, where it grew and the Mediterranean countries, as far back as 1196 or 1200 B. C. Amber was also the first substance which would attract small particles of dust which rubbed. This fact was discovered by the ancient Greeks and was called "elektron," from which our word electricity was derived.

Women of the Roman Empire greatly appreciated amber beads, but men preferred them for their ornamental value. Some of the fantastic shapes found, very often with insects or animals encased, aroused considerable awe and superstition during the dark ages.

Mr. Gillett is now serving his third term as Speaker of the House of Representatives, having been re-elected practically by a unanimous vote of the Republican members of the House. His selection is popular both with Republicans and Democrats, the Democratic leader of the House referring to him as a robust partisan, but a gentlemanly one.

Y. M. C. A. BOYS BUSY ON "H. T. O. F." CAMPAIGN

The captains for the "H. T. O. F." campaign have been busy for the last 24 hours in listing the privates to aid them in carrying out the plans which have been made so that the Kingston Boys' Division of the Y. M. C. A. may go on record as having done something for the boys of other lands as well as New York State.

This week the team captains and their workers are busily engaged in securing contributions from every member of the boys division for they feel strongly that unless the boys themselves take an active part in the giving, that they have no right to ask their many friends for assistance. The following boys have been appointed captains under the leadership of Mr. Hall, Boys' Work Secretary at the Y. M. C. A.: Archie Ronk, Adolph Stumpf, Kenneth Slater, Kenneth Williams, Ernest Smith, Wesley Hyatt and Ralph Longyear.

Last year the boys raised among their own members and their friends, $260. They are hoping to past the $200 mark this year and from all indications they will do so.

CAREY WASN'T SEEKING SUPERVISOR'S CLERKSHIP

Kingston, N. Y., Jan. 8, 1924.
Editor, The Freeman.

Dear Sir:
I am informed through the columns of this morning's Leader that my name was presented to the board of supervisors at their annual meeting last evening as a candidate for clerk of the board.

Will you kindly state to your readers that I was not a candidate for the office and had no knowledge that my name was to be presented, and I would not have consented to it had I been previously requested. Also that if it were possible to elect someone other than the Hon. Henry R. De Witt, I would not have been considered.

Respectfully,
EUGENE R. CAREY.

K. of C. Winter Program Started

The first degree was conferred upon a class of candidates Monday evening, at the regular meeting of Kingston Council, No. 275, Knights of Columbus, at its rooms Broadway and Andrew street. The degree team of Newburgh Knights of Columbus conferred the degree and their work was very commendable, exemplifying very lucidly the principles and duties of the initial degree. A very large attendance was present to assist in the exemplification.

Following the degree work Frank P. Messinger, a member of the National Organization of membership and investigation, delivered one of the most inspiring and forceful addresses given in the local chamber at a reception to newly initiated members.

The winner of the pool tournament which has been under way for some time will be decided this week when the finals will be played.

The pinocle tournament will begin on Sunday next. Members desirous of entering the games, are requested to leave their names with the custodian not later than Sunday.

Preparations for the corned beef and cabbage supper to be held at the home on Monday evening, January 21 are well under way. Members of councils of adjoining cities have expressed their intentions of attending.

Arrangements are being completed for the second and major degrees in the very near future, notice of which will be announced later.

JUNE 17 SET FOR NEXT REGATTA AT Poughkeepsie

The Intercollegiate Rowing Association has selected June 17 as the date for the holding of the annual regatta over the old course on the Hudson river starting one mile north of Poughkeepsie bridge. Only once before were the races rowed so early. The stewards decided to do away with the usual long delays between races and the useless hard pulls for the crews housed at a distance from the start. This will be accomplished by boating all the crews from the Columbia boathouse, which is near the starting point. Varsity, junior varsity and freshman races have been scheduled with no mention of a 150 pound event. It was decided that the association would make good on all the prizes which it had failed to give in past years because of the anemic condition of its treasury. The city of Poughkeepsie will be asked to make a subscription to defray the expenses similar to the one it made last year. That sum is said to be $5,000. The stewards decided to take immediate steps to assure the observation train over the West Shore railroad, for the regatta. Julian W. Carries of Yale will be the referee, Harry Penn Burke of Philadelphia outside judge.

ATTORNEY ELLSWORTH UNDERGOES OPERATION.

Attorney Roscoe V. Ellsworth, who has been confined to his home in Port Jervis for some time with a serious throat trouble, was operated upon Monday evening by Dr. George Chandler and Dr. George W. Ross at the Kingston City Hospital. Some time ago Mr. Ellsworth suffered from a severe cold which settled in his throat causing complications which made necessary an operation. His condition today is regarded as very satisfactory. On account of his illness Mr. Ellsworth, who was recently elected supervisor from the town of Esopus, was unable to attend the annual meeting of the board of supervisors which was held Monday evening.

All eyes have been on the Treasury department during the past two months. Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, through his forceful advocacy of tax reduction, has brought the public to a realization of the fact that the government has been so careful in its drive for economy during the past three years. Not only has it lived up to the promises of expenditures, but it has also been able to show a surplus of nearly over $100,000,000. In addition to directing the general financial policy of the administration, Mr. Mellon is also in charge of the bureau of Internal Revenue, Customs, Production Enforcement, Coast Guard, Public Health and many other activities of the Government.

Young Chairman of Supervisors

Longman Becomes Jail Physician—Lot to be Bought Near W. S. South Yard for Motor Equipment Storage.

Chester Young of the town of Wawarsing was elected chairman of the board of supervisors for the years 1924-25 at the annual meeting of the members held at the rooms of the supervisors on Monday evening. Henry R. DeWitt was re-elected clerk, and John W. Eckert, county attorney, while Dr. E. H. Longman was elected jail physician to succeed Dr. J. T. Buckley. The newly elected organization represents the Republican or majority party of the county legislature. During the afternoon a caucus of over two hours was held by the Republican members. The Democratic members held a caucus before the session and when the votes were taken on officers during the session, Daniel Shaw of New Paltz was nominated for chairman, Eugene H. Cary of Kingston for clerk, John Sampson for county attorney, and Dr. William J. G. Leary for jail physician. With the exception of Mr. Cary, for clerk, each received 11 votes and Mr. Cary 12. The Republicans have 22 members in the board.

The newly elected officers were each escorted to the front and expressed thanks for honor and promised impartial service to taxpayers. Supervisors Schantz, Lindbergh, DeWitt and McEhane, new members of present board have served in former years.

Designation of the Kingston Daily Freeman to publish election notices and official canvass for years 1924-25, signed by all but one Republican, who is Ill, being Supervisor Roscoe Ellsworth of Loopus, was read and filed. A similar designation by a majority of the Democratic supervisors of the Kingston Daily Leader was also presented and filed.

Two acts were introduced and after reading were passed, one empowering the town of Shandaken to borrow $5,000 for purchase of town hall, and one authorizing the creation of a new district within the boundaries of the town of Marlborough.

Supervisor Shultz presented a petition for an appropriation for the continuation of highway known as Road 24, filed.

Supervisor Thomas offered a resolution that an offer made by George V. Hutton and Robert Hutton to convey to the county a large lot on the northern side of Gage street and extending to St. Mary's cemetery property for $2,000 be accepted. In relation to the resolution County Attorney Eckert stated that for information of the members be would say that the county owned 12 motor trucks received after the war from the government which had been placed in working order and were in care of the county superintendent of the highways; that since the county had purchased two tractors and a number of snow plows all of the value of from $40,000 to $50,000. The motor trucks had been rented to towns which had use for them at a rate of $15 a day and the county superintendent has met with difficulty to find storage place. The lot in question was in a suitable location near the West Shore railroad and a siding and the Universal Road Machinery Company plant was close by where it necessary to have repairs no time would be lost, and that there would be police protection to the property. It would be an economic necessity. A resolution would follow for an appropriation for the erection of a suitable building.

Supervisor McDermott asked if a building could not be erected on lot adjacent to the armory, or the lot back of the court house on Crown street. County Attorney Eckert spoke of the purchase of the lot next to the armory as it was only a matter of time the state would increase its motor equipment for the companies now located in the armory, and Supervisor Thomas spoke of inadequacy of the auto parking place on John and Crown streets on Saturdays and at other times.

The resolution of Supervisor Thomas to purchase the Hutton lot was then carried.

Supervisor Thomas offered a resolution that the committee on highway equipment and maintenance advise for plans and specifications for a building to house equipment and receive bid for the erection of the same and report at the next meeting. Adopted.

Supervisor C. Young moved and it was adopted that $1,000 be raised and paid Henry Russell for a parcel of land necessary for improvement of highway No. 73 at a turn in the road where a bridge is being erected in the town of Wawarsing. A petition was read from the town board of Woodstock presented by Supervisor Elwyn for the improvement of Road No. 27, a distance of one mile filed.

Supervisor Snyder offered a resolution that the rules 1922-23 be amended by a new section to be known as No. 20 to follow Rule 19 the following sections to be amended in number, it shall provide for a committee on purchasing new machines and equipment, such committee to have charge of housing, etc., but such committee shall not affect the duties of the county auditors nor abridge the duties of the county superintendent of county highways. Adopted.

Supervisor Schantz moved that Supervisors Snyder, Avery and Auchmoody be elected the board of county auditors for a term of two years to receive $4 a day; also act as the county purchasing committee, and that the clerk of the auditors receive $750 a year. On motion of Supervisor Schantz it was adopted, after Supervisor McDermott asked if the county could not save money by requesting bids was informed by County Attorney Eckert and Clerk DeWitt that bids were asked whenever possible so to do. That merchants who had their bills audited monthly instead of waiting a year gave from 2 to 5 per cent discount and that coal, gas and electric bills were paid each month, and that in work that had to be done quickly bids could not be obtained.

Supervisor Heaton offered a resolution that the chair appoint a committee of six members, the chairman to be one, to purchase rights of way when required for state highways. Adopted.

Supervisor Shultz offered a resolution that the chair appoint a committee of eight members, of which the chairman shall be one, to be known as the legislative committee. Adopted.

Supervisor Avery offered a resolution that the clerk of the board be authorized to appoint a deputy clerk and two assistant clerks at an expense not to exceed $1,550. Adopted.

MOTHER OF FOUR WINS COLLEGE DEGREE.

Above is shown Mrs. Augusta Rudd McDonald, 48, with her daughter, Mrs. Louise McDonald Snyder and her sons, Leon and Donald McDonald. Mrs. McDonald in June will receive her master's degree in systematic theology from Northwestern University, Chicago, Ill. She obtained her A. B. at Oberlin College in 1897. In Northwestern she was "rushed" by sororities, choosing Pi Beta Phi. Her daughter, wife of Major Snyder, of Fort Sheridan, is also a graduate of Northwestern. Another daughter, Esther, graduated from Northwestern last year and was voted the prettiest girl in her class.

Supervisor Elwyn moved that a proposed highway in the town of Woodstock be added to the county highway map as adopted in 1921; and Supervisor Brink, of the town of Ulster, moved that a continuation of a road from Saunders' corners, a distance of four miles, be added to the county map of proposed highways. Carried.

Supervisor Tremper offered a resolution that in pursuance to the poor laws in order to standardize the type and price of headstones for graves of deceased soldiers, sailors and marines, that one of uniform size of Barre granite of dimensions, and style shown by design, be adopted to cost about $30. Heretofore there have been headstones of various kinds and sizes at a cost of $50. Adopted.

Supervisor Schantz offered a resolution that the salary of the clerk of the board be fixed at $2,500; county attorney, $2,500; county auditors, $4 a day when in session and expenses; clerk of county auditors, $750; three county highway officials, $350 each and expenses. Adopted.

Ernest H. Tate, of the state conservation commission, was then heard on change of law as to fire districts, he being district forest ranger for part of Ulster county, embracing the towns of Kingston, Marlborough, Lloyd, New Paltz, Plattekill, Rosendale, Saugerties, Ulster and Marlborough. Hereafter the towns will pay one-half of cost to men for fighting forest fires instead of all. He advocated the erection some time in the future by the county of a 60 foot ob-ervation tower at Eagle's Nest in the town of Hurley, the conservation commission to pay the observation and other expenses of maintenance.

Clerk DeWitt called attention to the following bills that came in after the adjournment of the last board, which had been examined by County Attorney Eckert and himself and found to be correct in form for audit and claims according to statute: Universal Road Machinery Co., $7,395 for tractor as per contract; Universal Road Machinery Co., $4,150 for 10 snow plows and equipment as per contract; William H. Kolts, former sheriff, for salary, expenses, care of prisoners, etc., during December balance of his term, $529.50; Donald S. Co., for 29 books and papers for the county clerk's office, $75.00; Rogers, Kelly & Murray of Albany, for stenographic work in connection with Rondout Creek Bridge proceedings in Hartsbrouck claim, $90.84.

Supervisor Snyder moved that the various claims be audited and warrants issued for payment on March 1, excepting claims of Universal Road Machinery Co., to be paid at once as per agreement and contract from amount already appropriated in hands of county treasurer. Carried.

Chairman C. Young named as the members of the highway officials: Supervisors Brink, Heaton and Dunbar. The latter is a new member, succeeding former Supervisor Lester Sagendorf.

Supervisor Schantz moved and it was carried, that the board of supervisors adjourn subject to the call of the chair.
